Indian Confederation.--Hattle of Tippecanoe.--Before Madison became president, the Indians on the western frontier, influenced by British emissaries, and led on by their great chief Tecumseh, began to form a confederacy against the United States. To check their hostilities, General Harrison was sent to the West, and in the important battle of Tippecanoe (in the western part of Indiana), defeated them with Madison. great loss (1811). 2. War Declared, --Invasion of Canada.--As the British still continued their unjust claims and measures, Con Upwards of six thousand cases of alleged impressments were recorded (at Washington). It was admitted by the British government that there might have been, at the commencement of the year 1811, sixteen hundred bona fide American citizens serving by compulsion in the British fleet. Upon the breaking out of hostilities, twenty-five hundred impressed sailors, still claiming to be American citizens, and refusing to fight against their country, were committed to Dartmoor and other prisons (in England), where most of them were detained till the end of the war. --Hildreth s History of ike United States.
